

School Community Intervention and Prevention Presents

Ethical Implications: Working with Criminal Justice Clients

Tuesday, October 15, 2019

Specialists in substance use disorder, mental health and criminal justice professions are bound by a code of ethics, especially important in the human services field. This 3 hour presentation will focus on the ethical concerns related to working with the criminal justice population. The intent is to engage professionals in a process of recognizing ethical dilemmas and participating in the use of ethical decision making on a consistent basis.

OBJECTIVES

At the end of this training, participants will:

- Discuss ethical practices that enhance professionals to explore value systems
- Recognize the unique confidentiality requirements for SUD treatment programs.
- Identify risk and protective factors within ethical practice
- Discuss ethical standards for human services professionals
- Review five major ethical violations common in counseling.

Presenter:

Jean Kilnoski, M.A., M.Ed., LMHP, LPC

Assistant Professor of Practice and Clinical Placement Director at Doane University Master of Arts in Counseling Department
