SCIP INTERVENTION & PREVENTION TRAINING

Serving high-risk youth presents a challenge for today's educators. Mental health issues, alcohol and other drug use, changing family systems, and child abuse often result in classroom behaviors which can interfere with a student's ability to learn.

The School Community Intervention & Prevention (SCIP) program provides a systematic approach for schools and communities to respond to those high-risk behaviors.

SCIP facilitates partnerships with schools and community agencies, identifying resources available to address problems related to mental health, student abuse of alcohol or other drugs, and other behavioral concerns.

Through a confidential process, students experiencing difficulties can be referred to a school SCIP team by parents, peers, school personnel, or anyone else concerned about a student. A SCIP team consists of school representatives who are trained to identify risk factors, intervene and assist, connect with community agencies, and provide support for students and their families.

SCIP partners with community behavioral health agencies who will provide a screening for SCIP referred students, free of charge.

This training will provide you with the tools needed to recognize warning signs of at-risk behaviors and the ability to develop an appropriate plan to assist the student and his or her family through the process of getting the help they need.

This workshop is for new SCIP teams, new members joining existing SCIP teams, as a refresher for long-time team members, or for any other interested community member.

You will receive the workshop agenda at the training. Following is a partial list of topics that will be included in the training:

- SCIP Program Framework
- Family Engagement
- Teen Dating Violence
- Internalizing Behaviors
- Substances of Abuse and Addiction
- Youth Mental Health
- Youth Digital Citizenship
- Gang Characteristics and Prevention
